Blessed Lord,

The mystery of your resurrection removes all doubt that you are everywhere, at all times. Even now, when we are separated from one another, you are with us here at this table, as you are with all who gather at this time around their own tables. Through you, this union with our “dear neighbors” invites us to be a part of your desire that “all may be one.”

We, therefore, ask you to extend your Spirit over each table today. Bless the one or the few who are gathered around it with health and peace of mind and heart. Bless our food, so lovingly prepared that it may nourish us, body and soul. Bless all the hands who brought it to our table - farmers and ranchers, plant workers and grocers, chefs and clerks. Keep them safe as well.

Thank you for drawing each of us into the circle of the Great Love of God.

*We praise you,
we bless you,
we thank you.*

Amen.
